Symposia features Mediterranean cuisine and seating for 65. Gerard + Belevender

A roundup of local food, drink and restaurant news:

Mediterranean comes to Greektown

A family that has made its mark on the Greektown section of Detroit has opened its newest restaurant.

Symposia is now open inside the Atheneum Suite Hotel and Conference Center. The restaurant is a Mediterranean-inspired, fine dining eatery, according to a news release. Symposia is a venture from the Papas family, which also owns and operates A Bar, Pegasus Taverna, Mosaic and Santorini Estiatorio in Greektown.

St. Clair Shores-based Olon Interior designed the space, which has seating for 65 guests, the release states.

The menu, curated by Executive Chef Elliot Patti, features dishes inspired by Greece, Italy and Spain. Signature offerings include roasted beet with whipped feta, pickled strawberry and green harissa; Spanish octopus with romesco tomato sauce, potatoes and chorizo; prawn bucatini with Greek olive oil, garlic, blistered tomato, confit lemon, Kalamata olives and fried parsley.

Patti joined Symposia after working in establishments in Los Angeles, Spain, France and England.

Symposia is open 5-10 p.m. Tuesday-Thursday and 5-11 p.m. Friday-Saturday.

Avalon, which celebrated 25 years in business earlier this year, on Oct. 5 opened a cafe in Rivertown Market at 1475 E. Jefferson Ave. in Detroit and plans to move into the space at Woodward Corner Market at 13 Mile Road and Woodward Avenue in Royal Oak in early November.

The cafes will carry Avalon's pastries, breads, cookies, sandwiches and espresso. They will be open daily 7 a.m.-4 p.m.

Avalon also has two other Detroit locations and an Ann Arbor restaurant.

Bloomfield Hills-based Great Lakes also closed its flagship store in Midtown last year and in February saw its employees go on strike amid a push to unionize.

Clawson distillery gets spooky

Weiss Distilling Co. will celebrate Halloween all month with a special event.

"Halloweiss" will see the distillery transformed into a sort of haunted house featuring skeletons, spiderwebs and horror show vibes, according to a news release.

The distillery, at 34 E. 14 Mile Road, will offer special cocktails to go along with the theme. The Whoo Doo Voodoo? comprises Weiss Lightning moonshine, Ritual non-alcoholic liquor, pumpkin, cinnamon and orange juice. The Almond Joy features Weiss Liqueur, vodka, orgeat, coconut and chocolate bitters. In all, 29 special drinks and shots will be offered this month at Weiss, with all drinks coming in special tiki mugs featuring pumpkins, skulls and vampires. The mugs are available to purchase for $20.

A food menu featuring caviar, charcuterie and bar food is also available.

Weiss Distilling Co. operates 5 p.m.-midnight Thursday-Sunday. Reservations are encouraged.

Lucky Detroit expands

Lucky Detroit Coffee & Espresso's newest cafe is open inside the Southfield Town Center at 3000 Town Center.

The Southfield cafe, which offers a variety of coffee, cookies, brownies, muffins, croissants and macaroons, joins locations in Corktown and Grosse Pointe Park. A Birmingham shop is planned to open in November, according to a Sept. 2 Facebook post.

Lucky Detroit owners did not respond to requests for more information.
